GS - II Test 12

Q. 1 Ans.

Pressure group is a group of people or an organisation formed having similar interest. Though directly they are not a part of govt. but indirectly they influence policies of govt. to protect their interest.

for eg. ASSOCHOM, FICCI,
KMSS - Krishak Mukti Sangram
Samithi, AASU etc.

Pressure groups as mechanism of ensuring broader and participative democracy —

— They generate awareness among ignorant and unaware masses.

eg. RTI was passed act was passed after an activist movement.

U.P.S.C.

Thus it brings efficiency, transparency and accountability of govt.

for eg. due to pressure from leban Sabb Sabhes of Haryana and Punjab, the central had to repeal the farm bills.

Similarly in Assam, the pressure groups KMSS & AASU influence various policy decisions of the govt.

eg. Preservation and promotion of Language, culture etc.

Pressure groups — limits majoritarianism
of govt.
— limits autocracy of govt.
— helps to preserve democracy
and its principles.
eg. liberty.

However some challenges are being seen in recent times —

challenges — Foreign donations
— Influence of various other international power and pressure groups.
— Threat to unity, integrity
and security of country.

Pressure group is an important component
of democracy, hence its sanctity should be maintained.

Q.2 Ans:

The RPA-1951 (Representation of the People Act 1951) deals with various issues regarding elections.

It also provides with provisions for the disqualification of its legislators. Despite provisions of disqualification, the issue of criminalization of politics is still persisting. In 16th Lok-sabha 34% of the legislators had criminal cases against them which increases to 42% in 17th Lok-sabha.

The reasons for the same are—

Criminalization
of Politics.

Lack of state funding of elections provides the scope for political parties to get dependent on individuals funding despite their criminal records.
